Managing compliance in childcare services by Dr Brenda Abbey

For any childcare practitioner who has ever found the regulatory environment professionally challenging or personally stressful, this guide will prepare you for managing compliance issues competently, confidently, and calmly.

The compliance requirements for child care are integral to creating a safe and appropriate environment for children and everyone in the industry. To help you meet the standards, this book provides an up-to-date overview of the scope of the regulations and the roles of the compliance officers responsible for enforcing them.

Dr Abbey explains practical and effective strategies for managing the compliance process, which you can apply in your own work and share with your colleagues, staff, and parents.

If you are involved in the Queensland childcare sector, Managing compliance in childcare services will become one of the most useful references on your bookshelf.

Dr Brenda Abbey is the Principal of Childcare by Design, a consultancy service that supports organisations and practitioners to design, develop, and provide high quality childcare services. Dr Abbey has a long and successful history in the childcare field, and remains a committed advocate for the early learning years. Her knowledge of compliance in childcare services has been developed through experience in a wide range of roles in the sector, including childcare director, compliance officer, quality validator, teacher, presenter, researcher, and writer.
